

Allison Oliver Key National Accounts Manager

Along her way to becoming Cotton Candy's Key National Accounts Manager, Allison made her mark as an award-winning sales rep on both sides of the promotional products industry supply chain. No matter where she and her phenomenal work ethic went, time and again she would rise above in the eyes of her colleagues and clients. A graduate of the advertising program at Sheridan College, Allison possesses a keen marketing sense and applies it in her approach to solving her clients' promotional objectives and when she's not chasing after clients, she's chasing after her two young boys, Jack and Charlie.
